-Web Development Immersive Program
Oct 2016 - Jan 2017

Completed 12 weeks of learning new languages and frameworks. Experienced one-week sprints of web application development. Worked on both individual and group projects building web applications using MEAN stack and Ruby on Rails.

-PROJECTS-

-Lingo Jungle

This application lets users find native speakers of their desired languages, so the users can practice languages with best partners. I developed the idea for the app and wireframes. Pair-programming with another developer led us to solve challenging parts quicker. This app is built with MEN stack and handlebar templating.

-Mapp

Mapp lets users create custom itineraries by simply typing names of places. So, users can share their favorite plans for Sunday afternoon or latest recommended art shows in town and best routes to go visit them. I worked on populating data from Google map API and some parts of routing to display data on the page. The app is built with Ruby o Rails
